U.S. Postal Service Announces Transportation-related, Time-limited Price Change

The Postal Service has filed notice with the Postal Regulatory Commission, or PRC, of a time-limited price change on certain products to better align its transportation costs with the market.

The planned change, which was approved by the Board of Governors on March 24, is an 8 percent increase that would affect base postage prices for Priority Mail, Priority Mail Express, USPS Ground Advantage & Parcel Select.

No other products or services would be affected, including First-Class stamps.

Pending favorable review by the PRC, the change would go into effect at midnight Central on April 26 and remain in effect until midnight Central on Jan. 17, 2027.

More information can be found in the Postal Service's March 25 news release.

The complete USPS price filing can be found on the PRC website. Price tables are also available on the Postal Explorer website.

NPF 2026 Early Bird Discount is Ending Soon

About NPF

The NPF has partnered with the USPS to present the mailing and shipping industry's premier educational venue, trade show and networking event. Held every spring, the four-day NPF is the only event that works directly with USPS managers to provide the most comprehensive educational and networking platform possible for meeting the needs of the industry and postal customers.

NPF Mission: To be the premiere educational conference for the entire mailing and shipping supply chain community to grow the industry. To facilitate collaboration of attendees through workshops, live demos and profiles and thoughtful dialogue. To showcase the latest in shipping and mailing technology, innovation, and related business needs and provide a place to recognize performance excellence in this industry.

A not-for-profit educational corporation, NPF established in 1968 by a group of major postal customers/mailers who were committed to an ongoing partnership with the USPS. The goal has always been to provide education to business mailers, along with communication and feedback between the USPS and its business customers for a more responsive and efficient mail communications system.

Coach For Success Presented by Floyd Creecy

We would like to extend our appreciation again to Mr. Floyd Creecy for such an informative presentation about coaching.

At the presentation, Mr. Creecy discussed the Five Coaching Practices. It is a good lesson for management to maximize employee's potential and discover new candidates.
